**Rights and Responsibilities of Asylum Seekers in Greece****

The process of applying for asylum in Greece has several steps. You can visit the "Legal Information" page on this website to learn more.

As an asylum seeker, you have certain rights and responsibilities.

**Rights and Responsibilities at All Stages****

- * You have the right to get information about your asylum application, rights, and responsibilities in a language you understand.
- * You have the right to basic help, including housing, food, legal, medical, and psychological support from UNHCR and other organizations.
- * You must cooperate with the Greek authorities in all matters.

**Rights and Responsibilities with an Asylum Seeker Card****

- * Once you get an asylum seeker card, you have certain rights and responsibilities:
  - ☐+ You can stay in Greece legally until a final decision is made on your case. This means you cannot be sent back to another country without your agreement while you wait for a decision.
  - ☐+ Children can go to school.
  - ☐+ You can move freely in Greece, but you are not allowed to travel to another country.
  - ☐+ Greece will provide you with a place to stay. You won't have to pay rent. You can't choose where you want to stay, but you don't have to stay if you don't want to.

- ☐+ You can get basic medical help, but you might have to pay a small amount for some services.
- ☐+ You are not allowed to work in Greece until you have completed the full registration process. After that, you can work and will have to pay taxes.
- ☐+ You must respect and follow Greek laws.
- ☐+ You must cooperate with the authorities handling your application.
- ☐+ You must always tell the Asylum Service if your email address or phone number changes.

I made sure to translate the text into simple English that is easy to understand, while maintaining the original meaning and context. I avoided using complex vocabulary and sentence structures to make it accessible to refugees who may not be fluent in English.
